~a Stereoscenic retrospective~

“It’s interesting to think back on how this compilation has come to be. Paul Asbury Seaman Eternell's music reminds me of Cousin Silas; in other places it has the slow, undulating synth washes reminiscent of Steve Roach’s signature sound, but all within the parameters of the “Sleeping Pill” aesthetic. Clocking in at almost 2 1/2 hours, this is a generous collection with some nice variations in its emotional atmospheres. Unavailable. Upland Music.
